Dear En Wan Suhaimi Ariffin,

On behalf of Cambridge University Press, Asia, I would like to take this opportunity to welcome you as a member of our Asia Library Advisory Board. We are thrilled to have you with us.

At Cambridge University Press, we are dedicated to advances learning, knowledge and research worldwide. We understand librarians in the academic institutions play a key role in this process. Hence, we have formed an Asian advisory board called Cambridge Asia Library Advisory Board (CALAB) and the attempt to bring a team of librarians from different prestigious universities in Asia together.

The objectives of creating this advisory board are:

- To create a link between librarians of prestigious universities and allow communication and sharing of experiences with other members
- To gain better insights of library acquisitions trends for both print and digital products so as to help us align our services to the needs of our institutional customers.

These will be achieved through the participation in our online surveys, group discussions and a yearly CALAB meeting that will be held in Asia. On board, we have got 11 CALAB members, including you.

They are:-
