3rd Kuala Lumpur Emergency Management of Severe Burns Course

This is a world recognized course held with the cooperation of the Australian New Zealand Burns Association (ANZBA). The course is a mandatory part of the surgical training in Australia, New Zealand and the United Kingdom. The course structure in Malaysia is the same as those that are taught in these countries. It teaches participants how to recognize, assess, give immediate life saving assistance and safely prepare burn patients for transport. It is suitable for those who are still in clinical practice including doctors of all grades, nurses, paramedics, medical volunteers and people working in the oil and gas sectors who deals with the possibility of burn injury in their professional environment. It is a highly interactive one day course divided into 2 hours of lectures followed by small group discussions and practical hands-on modules. Each participant will be given a manual to read up before attending the course and participation during the discussion groups are encouraged. This will help them understand the structure of the course and some basic knowledge on burn management. There will be a short and simple multiple choice questions test at the end of the day.
